GUOPING JIA

Guoping Jia wurde 1963 in Shanxi (China) geboren. 1980–1984 absolvierte er ein Musikstudium an der Shanxi-Jin-Opernakademie in Taiyuan. 1984–1987 war er Leiter der Musikabteilung am Kulturhaus in Luliang. Von 1987-1991 studierte er am Zentralen Konservatorium in Beijing Komposition, wo er ab September 1991 Dozent für Harmonielehre und Komposition war. 1994–1998 studierte er als Stipendiat des DAAD an der Staatlichen Hochschule für Musik und Darstellende Kunst Stuttgart Komposition bei Helmut Lachenmann, von wo aus er 1996 an den Darmstädter Ferienkursen teilnahm. Seit September 1998 ist er Professor für Komposition und Analyse Neuer Musik am Zentralen Konservatorium in Beijing.

Guoping Jia komponierte Kammer-, Orchester-, chinesische Volks-, Ballett- und Filmmusik und erhielt verschiedene Preise und Auszeichnungen in China und in der Bundesrepublik Deutschland. Seine Werke wurden in zahlreichen Ländern aufgeführt. Zu seinen wichtigsten Kompositionen zählen: Der zersplitterte Klangschatten (2003), Schweben über grenzenlosem Feld (2001/2002), The Wind Sounds in the Sky (2003), Whispers of Gentle Wind (2011), sowie die Orchesterstücke The Sacrifice (1991), Qing Diao (1998), Ice-Fire (2001/2005), Kalaviuka (2012), Lingering in the Firmament for Chinese orchestra (2001) sowie The Pine-Soughing Valleys (2014).

Jia setzt sich mit der Organisation von Konzerten und wissenschaftlichen Veranstaltungen engagiert für den kulturellen Austausch zwischen China und Deutschland ein. 2007 rief er den jährlich ausgeschriebenen ‚Con Tempo Composition Competition‘ und 2009 das ‚German Contemporary Music Festival‘ ins Leben. 2011 gründete er mit Unterstützung der Siemens Stiftung und der Internationalen Ensemble Modern Akademie das ‚ConTempo Ensemble Beijing‘, das erste chinesische Ensemble für moderne Musik, in dem westliche und östliche Instrumente kombiniert werden.

Die Werke Guoping JIA sind – sofern nicht anders angegeben – im Musikverlag Hans Sikorski, Hamburg verlegt.

Guoping Jia was born in 1963 in Shanxi (China). In 1980–1984 he completed studies in music at the Shanxi-Jin Opera Academy in Taiyuan. In 1984–1987 he was the director of the music department at the Culture House in Luliang. From 1987–1991 he studied composition at the Central Conservatory in Beijing, where he was an instructor in harmony and composition beginning in September 1991. In 1994–1998 he was a stipend recipient of the DAAD, studying composition with Helmut Lachenmann at the State Academy of Music and the Performing Arts in Stuttgart; from here, he participated at the Darmstadt Holiday Courses in 1996. Since September 1998 he has been Professor of Composition and Analysis of New Music at the Central Conservatory in Beijing.

Guoping Jia has composed chamber and orchestral music, Chinese folk music, ballet and film music and has received various prizes and awards in China and the Federal Republic of Germany. His works have been performed in numerous countries. The most important of these are: Der zersplitterte Klangschatten (2003), Schweben über grenzenlosem Feld (2001/2002), The Wind Sounds in the Sky (2003), Whispers of Gentle Wind (2011), orchestral pieces The Sacrifice (1991), Qing Diao (1998), Ice-Fire (2001/2005), Kalaviuka (2012), Lingering in the Firmament for Chinese orchestra (2001) and The Pine-Soughing Valleys (2014).

Jia is strongly committed to cultural exchange between China and Germany, devoting himself to organizing concerts and scholarly events. In 2007 he introduced the annual ‘Con Tempo Composition Competition’ and in 2009 the ‘German Contemporary Music Festival’. In 2011, with the support of the Siemens Foundation and the International Ensemble Modern Academy, he founded the ‘ConTempo Ensemble Beijing’, the first Chinese ensemble for modern music in which Western and Eastern instruments are combined.

The works by Guoping JIA are – inasmuch as no other publisher is mentioned – represented by Musikverlag Hans Sikorski, Hamburg.
